

NEWSY FADS AND STAGE FRILLS OF INTEREST TO BOSTON FOLK

MERRY JESTERS ARE WE!

"TWO LITTLE GIRLS IN BLUE" The Fairbanks twins, current at the Colonial, are as nearly alike in brilliance as they are in looks. Blue is not keynote of the show.

WITH A SONG ON HIS LIPS! John Charles Thomas as the Ambassador and Marjorie Gatenon as the Countess Irma in "The Love Letter" at the Tremont.

WONDER IF THEY'RE PEAS? Don't get scared, Holbrook Blinn, the happy wanderer in "The Bad Man" has been eating with his knife (as a bandit) for so long that he never cuts himself. If you want to see a bad man that you can't help but like, see Pancho Lopez at the Plymouth.

TRES GRANDE! Black pressed beaver in a broad brimmed shape and trimmed with uncurled black astrich makes an exquisite chapeau. Easily copied. (U. & U.)

CHERRY BLOSSOMS! Mrs. Goto, wife of son of Baron Goto, picked as the most beautiful woman in all Japan. (U. & U.)

AIR BEACON! This is the first lighthouse ever erected for the guidance of fliers — built at Croydon, England. Note the big quadruple lights. It towers high into the heavens. (W. W.)

DAYS OF REAL SPORT! Ever pay tandem tug-of-war? Here's some Danish Boy Scouts frolicking. The winning team, besides pulling its rival over the mark, must keep its feet. We'd rather be the chaps "upstairs." (K.)

IN THE SPRINGTIME OF YOUTH! Ruth Chatterton and Tom Neelitz playing the old game in "Mary Rose," the delightful play at the Hall's. More of Barrie's whimsicality loose.

CHARLOTTE RICH, met, wooed and wedded Albert E. Du Brin, N. Y. broker, in 4 days. (Int.)

P. H. DOODY of N. Y., 33, is one of the few who can wear a Congressional medal. Routed enemy after his officers were killed in Civil War. (Int.)

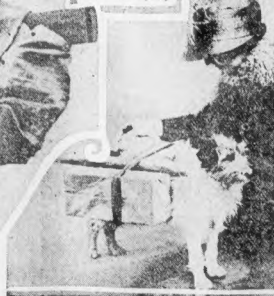

JOHNNY MOHARDT, who succeeded the unfortunate Gipp at left halfback, is Notre Dame's candidate for the all-American team. He's backbone of the Indiana boys. (K.)

LITTLE LORD FAUNTLOKER GROWN UP! Boston has seen many knickerbocker girls, but this costume, worn by Miss Doris Jones of Somerville, a flimsy, is modelled after the Paris garment that caused such a furore abroad. Obviously, it is a bit more fancy than the homogenous variety.

FINE FOR THAT SPRING FLOOD! This recently invented collapsible boat will hold four men and can be carried for a considerable distance on the shoulders of a lone man. It was invented by Sir Curtis Lampson, noted English explorer, who is taking several of them with him on his exploring expedition into Africa. The fabric used to cover the little craft is flexible, yet it can be folded without cracking or causing it to leak. Photo at the right shows how easily the folded boat can be carried by one man. Boat was successfully tested at Camberwell, England.

SEND UP A TON OF COAL, PLEASE! Little dogs, aside from serving as companion for nice old ladies, are now being trained to carry parcels on shopping trips. Photo shows a pup carrying his mistress' bundles in London, England. (W. W.)

Sportmen Remember Soldiers and Sailors Who Are Now Suffering

With American flags were given a special place in the golfing events held at the annual college tournament at the University of California.

The golfers observed Armistice Day by silent prayer and meditation for the soldiers and sailors who are now suffering in the enemy of the land who were killed for the lives during the World War.

The proceeds at all the clubs will be turned over to the soldiers and sailors who are now poor and in the hospital. The distribution will be made by the Red Cross.
